

In My Life: A Beatles Songbook

Promo Text

Full Version with Bios (215 words):

All you need is love ... and Beatles songs! In My Life: A Beatles Songbook celebrates the history and iconic music of the greatest rock band that ever was.

The group of talented musicians is led by Bruce Coughlan, a career songwriter, rock-solid guitarist, and lead singer of Tiller's Folly. On keyboards is right-hand man Marc Gladstone, who played in Doug and the Slugs, Nick Gilder/Sweeney Todd, the Brandon Paris Band, and Prism. On bass is country singer Gordon Maxwell, who played and sang for Ian Tyson for 20 years, was one of the lead singers and songwriters in the Juno-nominated One Horse Blue, and is currently the bassist/vocalist in the legendary rock band Chilliwack. Self-professed "avid drum nerd" Nick James is a sought-after drummer for hire in many Lower Mainland bands.

The guys tell stories about how the four lads from Liverpool have influenced their lives, from when they first heard Beatles music as kids to looking back across a lifetime of inspiration. Take it from the Port Hardy Engager: "Great introductions, stories, a bit of historical context, and a fabulous list of songs will have everyone dancing and singing the night away with some of the most unforgettable music of all time." And polish up your pipes for the singalong of audience favorites!
